This course provides the skills and knowledge for an individual to be competent to design, develop and use digital media technologies as an assistant information and communications technology (ICT) specialist working independently or as part of a larger development team. The course specifically covers how to integrate search engine optimisation, social media elements and social media marketing principals into a Website design.

The Diploma of Screen and Media offers professional and academic instruction in the arts and sciences of motion pictures and television. The course aims to give the student knowledge of the technical, creative, and business aspects of the film/television industries. This includes practical hands-on training in the operation of professional equipment and state-of-the-art techniques.

INTERNSHIPS IN HOLLYWOOD

Unlike any other college in Australia, the Institute of Film and TV offers a unique training program to be studying in two continents and to experience an Internship in Hollywood, the centre of the film industry. This training program is designed not only to obtain a prestigious qualification but to gain valuable experience firsthand in Hollywood.
